Mr. McCall presided. George H. Chapman, Esq., one of the oldest and most public-spirited inhabitants of the town, and chairman of the committee appointed by the town to take the matter in charge, read a written statement of the doings of the committee. The Rev. Mr. Shepard read the 90th Psalm, and then the Rev. Mr. Cheseborough offered prayer. After the singing of a hymn, Mr. McCall announced that the Hon J. H. Trumbull was not able to be present and deliver an historical discourse as had been expected. He made a few remarks on the history of the days of Lady Fenwick, both in England and in what is now known as Connecticut. The Rev. Mr. Heald read a sketch of her life. Lady Fenwick, as she is called, was the daughter of Sir Edward Apsley, and the heir of her brother, who was the last of the Apsleys of Apsley. Her first husband was Sir John Boteler, commonly called Lord Boteler, and from him she took her title which she kept to the time of her death. Professor Gilman, of Yale College, next spoke of the early history of Saybrook, as the center of an original and independent government, the mother city from which Norwich was founded, the old seat of Yale College, and the place made famous by the Platform.
